

Title:	A process for degumming and partial decolorization of crude glyceride oils
Abstract:	The present invention particularly relates to a process for removal of phospholipids and partial removal of color compounds present in crude glyceride oils using hydrophobic nonporous polymeric membranes at enhanced permeate flux (solvent free basis) with suitable dilution in organic solvent.