

Title:	A device for continuous dispensing of idli batter
Abstract:	This invention provides a device for continual dispensing of idli batter and like materials. The present also provides a device wherein an idli batter depositor which can deposit a predetermined quantity of batter on to a moving pan continuously and consistently without tailing from the said batter deposit.