

Title:	A process for the preparation of antioxidant from black cumin (Nigella sativa.) seeds
Abstract :	A process for the extraction of water soluble antioxidants with various bioactivity such as DNA protection and antiulcer and anticancer etc. The isolated material may find uses as in food and herbal formulations for multi health benefits in food industry as well as in pharmaceuticals and cosmetic industry where antioxidant rich formulations are employed in development of drugs for acidity, immunopotential, anti inflammatory, antiulcer, anticancer, hair care, nail care etc.